

When you take quizzes in ADLC's online learning system, you will encounter different types of questions.

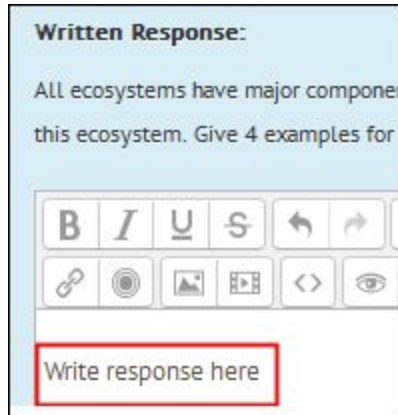

Most commonly, you will see multiple choice questions. To answer these, simply click the circle next to your choice.

But there are many other different question types. You may see drag and drop questions, best choice questions, matching questions, fill in the blank, and others. In any case, it's very important to read the instructions that come with the question.

You may also need to answer written questions. When you do so, simply type your answer in the space provided. You may have basic formatting tools available. If you do, go ahead and use them if you like.

Written Response:

All ecosystems have major components. Give 4 examples for this ecosystem.

Keep in mind when written questions are involved, when you submit your quiz, there may be some time to wait before you get feedback. We'll talk more about feedback and reviewing your quiz in the next document.
